A WRITER in a Morning Paper says, "I venture to assure you, that Lord North is neither serious nor in earnest to come forward even with censure, much less does his Lordship mean to attack the estates of any Nabob or Servant of the Company, whatever may appear against them upon the face of the Company's records, or of the reports. The war is to be with the Company; for although no corporate Act or Order of the East India Company, after the most minute investigation, has been brought, to employ the smallest censure upon the Company as a body, yet it seems as if that innocent and meritorious Corporation is to be considered as the only culprit, and therefore to be vexatiously teazed and squeezed almost to death; their property to be locked up, the key all the while remaining in the Minister's pocket, and they permitted only to look at it through the key-hole. Such a mode of proceeding may possibly serve some private purpose, but I am at a loss to conceive how it can turn to any account, either in a political or commercial light."

Letters from Cadiz mention, that an account is received there of an earthquake having happened in several of the Spanish islands in America, which had done considerable damage, and that a great number of persons lost their lives.

There are apartments already hired at Spa, in Germany, for the ensuing season, for upwards of 150 English families.

MAY 10.

Private letters from Holland advise, that all the spice-bearing shrubs carried by the French emissaries from Ceylon, and planted near the island of Mauritius by the French, in order to partake of the profits of that commodity with Holland, have been by the Dutch emissaries entirely destroyed.

By recent advices from Copenhagen, we learn, that his Danish Majesty has lately been troubled with a great dejection of spirits and despondency of mind, attended with very dangerous symptoms.

This day a Commission passed the Great Seal, appointing the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury, the Lord Chancellor, the Lord President of the Council, and several other Lords, to give the Royal Assent to the East India Tea Bill, and to such other Bills as were ready.—The drawback on the duties of Customs on Teas, we hear, was to take place this day.

Several plans for improving upon our manner of ship-building are at present under the consideration of the Lords of the Admiralty, who have ordered some models to be made, that the proposed improvements may be seen to more advantage than they possibly can be in the draughts.

Yesterday the Earl of Bellamont set out from his house in Curzon-street, with a grand retinue, for Dover.

MAY 11.

Advices from Genoa, mention a recent insurrection there, which was happily quelled without any blood-shed.

Extract of a Letter from Madrid, April 6.

"Advices have just been received here from the Viceroy of Mexico, that a plague, of a very malignant nature, has broke out in that city, and the contiguous country. It had made its appearance but six days before the advices were dated; and such were the fatal effects of it, that above 30,000 Spaniards, Mestizos, Indians, and Negroes were then dead."

Extract of a Letter from Cracow, April 28.

"As the insolence of the foreign troops encreases, so rises the spirit of the Poles; every man now sees the design of the three powers who have seized the kingdom to enslave it; and talk in so spirited and resolute a manner of extirpating the foreigners, and adhering to their old forms of government, that they only want a General to lead them on, and they would begin the great work immediately. It is not only in one place that this resenting prevails, but over all the kingdom, it is not the effect of desperation, but a noble detestation of slavery."

PARIS, April 26. An English Nobleman being lately charmed with the talents and beauty of a young actress, whom he knew to be very discreet, to reward and encourage her virtue he wrote her the following letter:

"It is said you are chaste, and have formed a resolution of continuing so; this is excellent, and new for the present age. I exhort you never to change. I beg your acceptance of the deed which I now send you; it will entitle you to fifty guineas per month as long as this fancy shall last. If, by chance, you should change your mind, I ask the preference, and will give you a hundred." This last proposal is very capable of shaking the firmest mind; the answer of this actress to the nobleman is not yet known.

LONDON, MAY 12.

Whatever reports may be circulated to the contrary, it is now certain that the Courts of Great-Britain and Prussia perfectly understand one another, and, instead of enemies, mean to act as friends and allies in all continental matters.

It is whispered that a certain sovereignty has been tendered to a younger brother of royalty, belonging to a certain Court, but that, for very prudent reasons, it has been refused.

Extract of a Letter from Portsmouth, May 10.

"Orders are come here to stop the fitting out of the fleet; in consequence of which, the ships lately come from Plymouth, will return thither with the first fair wind. The men on board the guard ships are to be reduced to their former complement; several frigates are to be paid off; and the recruiting party for marines called in."

WARSAW, (Poland) April 21. At length the period which will be so remarkable in the history of this kingdom, and which will decide its fate, is arrived, viz. the opening of the Diet, which happened two days ago. Since that time till the present nothing but the most violent contention has passed in it. We expect no good from so gloomy a beginning. The Diet is divided into two parties, and whatever is resolved upon by the one is immediately protested against by the other.

LONDON, MAY 13.

Some letters from Lisbon mention, that a rupture between Portugal and Spain is much apprehended there, in consequence of some unfavourable advices which have been lately received from Madrid.

Most of the Nabobs in town are every night seized with the horrors; their downy beds, adorned with sattin and gold furniture, afford them not their usual repose;—the ghost of the murdered Surajah Dowlah appears in ghastly terror to their tender consciences, and the word RESTITUTION interrupts their half-winked slumbers.

Should a certain august assembly actually persevere in their spirited resolutions, requiring ample restitution from some of our India Nabobs, such resolutions will be similar to the effects of salt, when thrown on bloated leeches, who immediately disgorge the bloody repast, rapaciously sucked from human vitals.

Sunday a lady, who had eloped from her husband, and carried off about 1500*l.* in cash, besides trinkets, &c. was stopped at Dover by two messengers, who were dispatched by Sir John Fielding for that purpose, just as she was on the point of embarking with a French hair-dresser on board the packet for Calais, and brought back the same evening to the Fountain tavern in Canterbury, on her way to London.

Sir George Saville has in the most polite and respectful terms, [illegible] and Mr. Serjeant Glynn, thanked the Freeholders of Middlesex for the great honour done him by the resolution of the 30th of April, and assured them of his persevering in his endeavours to support and defend the rights of election, in which they are so materially interested.

Advice was received at the India House, over land from India, containing an account of an action that had lately happened between their forces at Bombay, and a Prince of the country, who had made some encroachments upon the Company's territories in that province; that their troops had been successful, and taken a principal town of the enemy by storm; but that unfortunately their Commander in chief, General Wedderburne, had been killed in the action.

The Solicitor General neither attended the Courts or at the House of Commons yesterday, on account of the death of his brother, as mentioned above.

MAY 15.

The following came by yesterday's post from a gentleman who arrived at Portsmouth, from London, on Thursday morning. "In my road to this place, I met four or five hundred sailors going to town, who had been discharged from the ships; and when I came here, an express was just arrived, with orders to turn off no more; as also to send after those gone, to bring them back again, and to man the ships with all expedition. Yesterday this town was quite flat and dead, the poor sailors sold their beds for a shilling a piece, which had been provided for them a few days before, and 10*s.* 6*d.* stopped out of their wages for the same. Numbers of them begged charity of me upon the road, declaring they had not a penny to help themselves. All is hurry and bustle to-day; but 'tis imagined it will end in smoke. The gunpowder sent from the warehouses to the several ships was no sooner in, than ordered back again, which was complied with; now 'tis ordered to the ships again. By these transactions, guess at the abilities of those in administration!"

Extract of a letter from Portsmouth, May 13.

"Two expresses arrived this morning to countermand the discharge of the seamen, and the sailing of the ships to Plymouth, at the same time ordering the seamen already discharged to be re-entered. What this means can only be known by those at the helm, if no fresh matter has sprung up it certainly betrays misconduct and precipitancy."

AMSTERDAM (Holland) May 10. Letters from Batavia, of the 16th of September last, advise, that on the 11th of August they observed at midnight a bright cloud that covered the mountain in the district of Cheribon, and that at the same time several reports were heard, like guns; that the people who dwelt on the top, and at the foot of the mountain, not having been able to fly fast enough, a great part, of almost three leagues in circumference, detached itself under them; that afterwards it was seen rising and falling like the rolling waves of the sea, and emitted globes of fire so luminous, that they were seen from afar, which rendered the night as clear as day; that the losses occasioned by these phænomena were the more considerable and melancholly, as 2140 persons, both foreigners as well as natives, lost their lives; that 1500 head of cattle perished, and a great number of horses, goats, and fowls of every kind; that 39 negro habitations were destroyed; the plantations of coffee, Indico, &c. buried in the earth; that in the district of Panimbam, where this mountain is situated, there remained only a fifth part of its inhabitants, and that the devastation occasioned by this accident was felt at the distance of seven leagues round.

MAY 17.

Let no man for the future presume to call the British Senate corrupt and venal; that Assembly, in the business of the East-India affairs, gave a convincing proof of being open to conviction, for they changed opinions three or four times in the space of three or four hours.

An evening paper of Saturday last says, a foreigner of high rank (the French Ambassador) was detected last week at Portsmouth taking a view of the works in disguise. He had been invited to dine on board a man of war, with some English nobility, but excused himself on pretence of being fatigued with the journey, when he took that opportunity of going round the fortifications in a boat without any attendants.

It was a stale finesse of the French, when we demanded the reason of their fitting out a fleet in time of peace, to return for answer, that the equipment was only for a short excursion, merely to exercise their seamen. Were our Ministry to pursue the same piece of policy, the nation would not murmer at the expence, which may be made many ways by state œconomy, in retrenching the vast expences yearly misapplied, and lavishly squandered.

MAY 18.

We are assured that the last dispatches sent to the Lords Stormont and Grantham, our Ambassadors at Versailles and Madrid, contained final requisitions for definitive answers from those Courts, relative to the real destination of the fleets now fitting out at their several ports.

The manner of the two great branches of the House of Bourbon haveing baffled or eluded the enquiries of our Ministry, relative to their naval armaments, we hear, is by referring us from one to the other, contending for a unity of measures, while they affect to be totally ignorant of each other's intentions.

A person who pretends to speak from good authority, says, that the apparent instability in our Counsels, relative to the affairs of the Continent, does not arise so much from the variable measures pursued by the Powers with whom we treat, as the irreconcilable difference of sentiment which alternately prevails in the Cabinet.

A messenger, which had been but a few hours coming from Paris, arrived at the Secretary of State's office on Saturday night last; which, it is said, brought from our Ambassador a confirmation of the news that has alarmed our Ministry in the course of last week: The French, it seems, have actually pursued those measures they first set out upon, notwithstanding their assurances to the contrary; but the Spaniards have exceeded them in insolence, and it is supposed will meet with chastisement in a few days; for yesterday expresses were sent to Portsmouth and Plymouth to enter all the men that came, and to give more bounty-money than what was offered in the late proclamation.

We learn by a letter from Paris, dated the 11th of May, that two expresses arrived there from Madrid in 24 hours, the first occasioned a council to be held, after which a courier was sent to Toulon: Whereupon Lord Stormont went to the Duke de Aiguillon, and was closetted for two hours with him; his Lordship required to be informed of the last dispatch from Spain, otherwise he should retire to England; the Duke d'Aiguillon desired his Excelleney to meet him in the evening at Choisy, where the King was, which he did, and the same evening his Excellency, upon the answer, dispatched a courier to his court; some people pretend that the cabinet of Spain don't appear inclined to hold the last terms agreed to by France and England, twelve men of war having sailed from different parts of Spain, with orders to commit hostilities in case the Count Romanzow should attack the Turks; and another fleet is about to sail to invade some Dutch colonies: an air of close secrecy is worn on the occasion.

It is certain, that since the late peace, Spain has built and repaired a formidable fleet, all well manned, their troops are upon a good footing, her fortifications at home and abroad repaired, and Spain has less debts, and more cash and credit than any power in Europe: it is thought she will try to take her revenge for the loss of her reputation [illegible] years. The people in general are very anxious vent of the present situation of affairs, which involve all Europe in war.

A correspondent observes, how much wiser were of old to those of modern times! instead of tilting for the wrongs done them by a whore of a wife, [illegible] France (no less a Personage than a prime Minister time, (as the story tells) surprized his "Fair Dear tuous wife of his bosom, in bed with a gallant, [illegible] his arms, and asleep; but instead of pinning the [illegible] gether on the spot, as they deserved, or challenging the gallant through the guts afterwards, the wife misfortune it was to be cornuted, contented himself gently waking, and coolly desiring the lovers to [illegible] pose and dress themselves; and then, in presence of vants, desired of the gallant only to be fairly informed means he obtained so great a favour from his Virtuous The gallant thinking it a fair and honest question, [illegible] plied, the means were "an hundred Louis d'ors."—dred Louis d'ors? (quoth the husband in a surprize) great price indeed; and pray, Sir, where is the money Lady's pocket (replied the gallant); upon which, to his fair one, Pray, my dear, where are your pockets being produced, an hundred Louis d'ors sure enough, [illegible] then telling them carefully over one by one, there, ninety-nine of them back again for you, Mr. Horner there, Madam, is one for you—enough for any whore in Christendom—I will have no man imposed on in my house;" then turning his sweet dear out of doors, set an example to wise man, alike dignified, to follow.

MAY 20.

On Tuesday Lord North presented to the House of Commons a bill for establishing certain regulations for the better management of the affairs of the East-India Company, as well in India as in Europe, which was received, read the first time, and ordered to be printed.

It is expected that Lord Clive will move, that Lord Chatham be desired to attend at the bar of the House of Commons.

It is said that the expence of equipping the naval armament which is to end in nothing, amounts, at the most moderate computation, to upwards of 200,000*l.*

Sir Joseph Yorke, we are told, has transmitted some very welcome news here, from the Hague, which occasioned much debate a day or two ago, at St. James's, and is likely to add the troubles our Ministry already appear to be in.

Jemmy Twitcher is said to have made a profit of twenty thousand pounds by the late fluctuations in the Stocks, from knowing how to steer in 'Change Alley.

Yesterday at half after three o'clock, the order of the day was read for the further consideration of the East-India reports; Colonel Burgoyne got up, and having spoke more largely upon the subject, concluded with reading a motion to the following effect: "That Robert Lord Clive, having, as one of the principal servants of the Company, received after the battle of Plassey the sum of two hundred and thirty-four thousand pounds, to his own private emolument, had thereby exceeded the bounds of moderation, and shewn a bad example to the other servants belonging to the Company, who had little or no merit."

He referred them for a justification of this assertion to the report from the select committee. A question then arose, and a debate ensued thereon, whether the evidence drawn by the select committee from Lord Clive, to convict himself, was admissible, and whether the witnesses heard by the committee, should not be examined viva voce at the bar of the House; when it was argued by those in support of the motion, that the evidence laid before the committee, was not competent, the appointment of a committee was wholly needless.

About seven the House agreed to hear the evidence at the bar, and at half an hour after ten, a motion was made for adjourning the House till Friday, when the House divided, and the members were 119 ayes to 81 noes. The House therefore stands adjourned till to-morrow. The Ministry were the minority.

MAY 21.

Lord Clive had very great attention shewn him by the House on Wednesday night. Towards the conclusion of his speech, he told them, "that should the House be disposed to take away his fortune, he still had a small paternal estate which they could not touch; that he would go into the country and live retired, satisfied within himself that he had done justice to all mankind."

Three companies of foot, and a large quantity of artillery, embarked at Jamaica the 15th of March, to reinforce the English settlements on the Musqueto shore, and to erect some strong batteries on the Spanish side.

The Earl of Corke, in a letter from Florence, written in the year 1755, makes the following observation (which a correspondent says he thinks is prophetical). "The ball of empire may hereafter roll westward, and may stop in America; a world unknown, when Greece was in its meridian glory; a world that may save the tears of some future Alexander.

The King of Prussia has an army of two hundred and forty-seven thousand fighting men. How is such a large body of troops to be cloathed, fed, and paid? Either by the ruin of his subjects, or by letting them seize, plunder, and destroy the territories of neighbouring Princes. The Monarch who keeps up a large standing army in times of peace, tells all the world he designs to find an enemy whenever he pleases.

In the division of the Polish provinces, the Russian Empress has obtained a few salt-pits, and an extent of barren country no way considerable, except by its contiguity to Russia. The Austrians have very little of fertile land or inhabited country for their share. The old Fox of Prussia has obtained in his portion, a great number of towns and cities well peopled, besides a vast extent of territory, with several sea-ports upon the Baltic; in short, he has swallowed the oyster, and given the two shells to his confederates.

Orders are given for three ships of the line and two frigates, to be got ready immediately to join Commodore Hood on the American station.

Wednesday Lord Townshend was married to Miss Montgomery. She is said to be about seventeen, and his Lordship about fifty years of age.

MAY 22.

Yesterday a Board of Admiralty was held, at which several naval officers attended, and received their commissions; after which some fresh orders were sent to the commissioners of the different dock-yards.

On Thursday orders were sent from the Admiralty for three frigates to put to sea immediately, one of which is to cruize off Cadiz, one off Toulon, and the other off Brest.

The First Lord of the Admiralty has been down at Portsmouth to review the fleet, and to the great joy of his convivial friends, is returned safe to London. Tho' he was not expected, he found every thing in perfect order, nor was there in the whole fleet so much as a single rope out of its place. His Lordship was highly pleased at the alacrity and spirit which the men discovered in preparing the ships for their respective docks, where they are to lie snug and quiet, safe and secure from storms and bullets, until another review is thought necessary, or again to amuse the people, with a story of a war with France and Spain, of giving bounty money for the encouragement of seamen that are not wanted, and such incoherent nonsense; then the ships will be again put in commission; and then—What then? why

...andwich will hurry down to Portſmouth, and then—why then he will hurry back again. O Tempora!

...refunding ſcheme ſhould be carried againſt the Na... informed, a great perſonage and his conſort can... our ſurrender up leſs than 85,000 l. as by Lord ...ence, preſents to the value of 60,000 l. were ſent ... the former, and jewels, &c. amounting to 25,000l.

... from Holland we learn, that an illuſtrious German ...ce has entered into the ſervice of the Pruſſian monarch, and ... command in chief.

We are informed that the fleet under the command of Commodore Shuldham, for the protection of the Newfoundland fiſhery, is to be augmented to ſeven ſail, beſides ſloops and ſmall craft.

A draught from the artillery, we hear, is ordered immediately to embark for Gibraltar and Minorca, and the long wall oppoſite the bay is ordered to be put in a better ſtate of defence.

It is reported that the Portugueſe Ambaſſador delivered a memorial of great importance laſt Thurſday to one of his Majeſty's principal Secretaries of State.

A Letter from Verſailles, dated May 17, ſays, "Our warlike preparations are at an end, the ſailors are ſent home, and the augmentation of troops is countermanded; but the war among ourſelves grows worſe than ever; the new conqueſt of Corſica is a church-yard for our ſoldiers, and un gouffre for our cash; all the promiſes made by ſeveral proclamations of good treatment to the rebels have no ſucceſs; theſe unfortunates are ſo great infidels to them as to the excommunication of the Pope. 4000 brave fellows have been buried in leſs than eight months, and recruits are ſent every three months! the exchange has been propoſed lately to the King of Sardinia, but refuſed; the purchaſe was offered to the Duke of Parma a year ago, without ſucceſs; and now they ſay it will be offered to the Emperor of Germany, by the negociation which is upon the carpet concerning Poland. We have been in hopes that the Prince of Conti would walk under the colour of reconciliation; but his fermete to his principles reſpecting the happineſs of the ſubjects, does not tally with the condeſcenſion of his brother Princes of the blood; the Prince has expreſsly declared, that he will never appear at Court 'till after the exile of the three ...ts who govern the kingdom, which he ardently expects in leſs than ſix months."

The Racehorſe and Carcaſs are fitting out for an expedition to the North Pole, under the command of the Hon. Capt. Phipps. Mr. Lyons is appointed by the Board of Longitude, to make obſervations in aſtronomy, natural hiſtory, and philoſophy. The principal deſign of the voyage is to examine the countries and ſeas near the Pole, and to endeavour to find a paſſage this way to Japan, which is now a voyage of about ten months, whereas, if a paſſage could be found by the North, it might be performed in ſeven weeks. A very large collection of inſtruments are prepared for this expedition, for making obſervations and experiments on the ſtate of the atmoſphere in the frigid zone; two watches of Mr. Arnold's conſtruction, and one made by Mr. Kendal, after Mr. Harriſon's, are to be examined, to ſee if they will be uſeful to find the longitude in theſe cold climates. The ſhips will ſail in a few days.

It is ſaid that two amazonian ladies have undertaken, for a conſiderable wager, to ride three heats next Newmarket meeting, over the beacon courſe, and that large ſums are depending upon the occaſion.

MAY 24.

In the courſe of laſt fortnight upwards of twenty General Officers have ſet out to join their regiments in Ireland, among whom are the Lords Ligonier, Percy, and Ferrers.

Orders are ſent to the Governors of Jerſey and Guernſey for thoſe iſlands to be forthwith put in a proper ſtate of defence, and for the Crown Engineers to take draughts thereof.

By a Dutch ſhip juſt arrived from the Eaſt-Indies, an account is received, that the French are making very great preparations at the iſlands of Mauritius and Bourbon, and that numbers of French troops have arrived there lately from Europe.

The Bill to amend and enforce the ſeveral laws now in being for preventing the infamous practice of ſtock jobbing, and other ſpecies of gaming, is ordered to be tranſmitted to a ſelect committee.

The ſhips at Spithead are manned and provided with proviſions of all kinds, complete for ſix months, and are ready to ſail on the ſhorteſt notice.

MAY 25.

A ſpeedy reconciliation is like'y to take place between the Royal Brothers. On Sunday laſt his Grace the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, and the Lord Chancellor, attended by the Biſhop of London, were at Glouceſter and Cumberland Houſes, to take depoſitions upon oath reſpecting the legality and validity of their marriages. It is ſaid their Highneſſes, with their Ducheſſes, were examined upon oath; and the above perſons have declared both marriages legal.

Letters arrived yeſterday from Canton in China, bring advice of the moſt dreadful hurricane, or tornado, that happened in that river in Auguſt laſt, by which all the ſhipping were totally loſt, except the London, a ſhip belonging to the India Company. This loſs is computed at many millions ſterling, beſides the lives of an immenſe number of inhabitants.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, May 17.

"We hear from Dantzick, that the trade is to be free, as it was two months ago; and as the King of Pruſſia has revoked the laſt taxes impoſed, and ordered to be laid out upon the cargo of the foreign ſhips, the Magiſtrates of that Republic, at preſent in this capital, will not be obliged to proceed further, neither in France nor in England; they have been indefatigable in the execution of their commiſſion."

MAY 26.

It is ſaid that, thro' the mediation of Great-Britain, a truce will take place between the Turks and Ruſſians for the ſpace of three months, which time will be employed in negotiating new terms of pacification.

It is poſitively aſſerted that a reconciliation will take place, in the courſe of next week, between the King and his Royal Brothers; and ſome think it will be declared on the birth-day, the 4th of next month.

Laſt night a cabinet council was held at Lord Rochford's office in Cleveland-row, at which the Lord Chancellor and the great officers of ſtate aſſiſted, and did not break up 'till near twelve o'clock. And this morning the Lord Chancellor, and the Earls of Rochford and Suffolk, had the honour of a long conference with his Majeſty at the Queen's palace.

The addition talked of to the civil liſt, we are informed, is not to be brought on the carpet this Seſſion, and many think it will be deferred to the next Parliament, this growing ſo near its end.

The Houſe of Commons, it is ſaid, will adjourn next Friday till the Monday after the holidays, and the Lords till the Tueſday. It is ſaid ſuch Bills as are ready will receive the Royal Aſſent, by commiſſion, on Friday.

The report that upwards of 200,000 people had been loſt in the river Canton, in China, in a hurricane in Auguſt laſt, may ſeem extravagantly great; but when it is conſidered that the Fiſhermen on that river, and all others that carry manure for the cultivation of rice, live with their families at all times in their boats, it may not appear ſo enormous. China is ſaid to contain 58 millions of people, between the ages of 16 and 60.

Large Assortment of Cabinet-Work;

CONSISTING OF

DESKS and Book-Cases, Double Chests of Drawers, Sophas, French Chairs, and complete Bedsteads, which he will sell for little more than PRIME COST, for Cash or short Credit.

The great Expence and Trouble he has been at in completeing so large an Assortment, was in Hopes of gaining some Credit with the Gentry of this Place—the Whole of the Articles being as completely finished as any ever offered for Sale in this Province; but the very little Encouragement he met with at his public Sale, obliges him to advertise them again, and hopes those Ladies and Gentlemen who applied to purchase Goods before the Day of Sale, will now favour him with their Custom; for his only Motive for not selling his Work by private Sale (though he is confident he could have sold the Whole of it in that Manner) was his Determination of not disappointing the Public by lessening his Assortment; and as several of the principal Inhabitants of Charles-Town, know the above to be the real Truth, for he declared the same to them at the Time of his refusing to sell, he flatters himself they will do him the Justice to acknowledge that to be the Reason he gave for his Refusal; he being determined, as he had advertised, that every Person should have an equal Chance of purchasing such Articles as they might be in Want of—at the same Time hoping, that his Impartiality would in some Measure intitle him to the future Favours of the Public, to merit which he has, and (notwithstanding his late Disappointment) will ever exert his utmost Endeavours to give them Satisfaction.

On Good Humour and Politeness.

THERE are few Qualifications that recommend a perſon more in the opinion of the world than good Humour: This is one of thoſe neceſſary ingredients in the human compoſition, which not only renders every moment agreeable to ourſelves, but makes the moſt unguarded of our actions in ſome meaſure pleaſing to every body elſe.

Good humour we might perhaps not improperly term the moſt amiable ſpecies of politeneſs, ſince it has ſo apparent a tendency to promote the univerſal ſatisfaction, and ſo natural an averſion to obſerve the faults of our acquaintance: But what, in the opinion of the moſt ſenſible, can give ſuperficial politeneſs a preference to this blooming daughter of good nature and humanity, I am abſolutely at a loſs to conceive; unleſs they find it neceſſary to aſſume the appearance, in order to attain the reality; and by practiſing a behaviour they ſhould deſpiſe, eſtabliſh the foundation of a conduct they ought to love.

If to make room for the eſtabliſhment of univerſal good humour was the only motive for wearing a pretended politeneſs, the appearance of this quality might be in ſome degree allowable; but the man of true politeneſs is a character as difficult to be found, as the woman of real good humour; and all we generally underſtand by the former of theſe words, is an agreeable manner of converſing with our friends, and giving our ſentiments an air of delicacy ſuperior to the generality of mankind: And were we to enquire into the common acceptation of the word, the barely not wiſhing to offend, might be found the determinate ſignification of the latter.

Though it is poſſible that good humour and politeneſs may differ a little in their meaning, and that a perſon may be infinitely agreeable without any extraordinary ſhare of elegance; yet I fancy, that to be truly polite, it is abſolutely neceſſary to be really good humoured; as the affectation of being pleaſed with every trifle we meet with muſt otherwiſe ſit very awkwardly, and ſome time or other betray a man into a behaviour, that may forfeit his character of politeneſs in the opinion of half his acquaintance.

Though from what has been ſaid, good humour and politeneſs muſt appear to be cloſely connected, yet the more exalted ranks of life have monopolized politeneſs to themſelves, and not thinking good humour worth the poſſeſſion, have quietly reſigned her to their inferiors: It would be the greateſt derogation in a man of quality to think of ſtooping to the one, and the higheſt preſumption in a tradeſmen to make the ſmalleſt pretenſion to the other.

It has been the obſervation of ſeveral authors, that the manners of the men are generally formed by the approbation of the ladies; and that one half of mankind would be as much devoted to the purſuit of virtue and honour, as they are now addicted to folly and impertinence, could a conduct of that nature procure a recommendation to their favour: But theſe ſenſible gentlemen have not been equally candid in remarking, that were the men a little more attentive to the behaviour than the dreſs of their miſtreſſes, the women would be leſs fond of fools and coxcombs; and that by a rational endeavour to pleaſe, a reformation might be effected in each of the ſexes, that would eſſentially procure the happineſs of both: But ſince the men are ſo falſely polite as to admire the converſation of a beautiful ideot, where is the wonder if a woman is good humoured enough not to be offended at the addreſſes of a blockhead.

Mr. Pope has particularly recommended good humour to the ſtudy of the ladies, as one of the greateſt additions to the moſt beautiful face, and the ſureſt preſervative of the moſt wavering heart: This happy ſerenity of thinking, is admirably expreſſed by the celebrated poet in the following lines, and ſtrongly paints what the generality of the fair ſex are too frequently found not to be, by ſhewing what they ſhould.

O! bleſt with temper, whoſe unclouded ray
Can make to-morrow chearful as to-day;
She who can own a ſiſter's charms, and hear
Sighs for a daughter with unwounded ear:
Who never anſwers till her huſband cools,
Or, if ſhe rules him, never ſhews ſhe rules:
Charms by accepting, by ſubmitting ſways
And has her humour moſt when ſhe obeys:
Spleen, vapours, and ſmall-pox, above them all;
And miſtreſs of herſelf—tho' china fall,

In order however, that none of our readers may be miſled, by a pretenſion to a politeneſs and an affectation of good humour, we ſhall cloſe this eſſay with ſome negative rules, which, in ſhewing what theſe qualifications are not, may fix the abſolute criterion of what they are: and though both the ſexes have an equal claim to good humour and politeneſs, yet the firſt being more generally aſcribed to the ladies, as the latter is to the gentlemen, we ſhall beg leave to confine ourſelves to one of the ſexes in the non-definition of both.

To begin then with the ladies.

Whenever a lady feels the leaſt uneaſineſs at hearing the praiſe of another—Not good humoured.

Whenever ſhe is diſguſted at not being thought the fineſt creature in the world—Not good humoured.

Whenever ſhe finds fault with the dreſs of an acquaintance more elegant than her own—Not good humoured.

Whenever ſhe kindly beſtows the appellation of fright, or odious, upon another, for talking with a puppy ſhe would wiſh to dangle with herſelf—Not good humoured.

Whenever ſhe declines liſtening to an account of her own perfections—Not good humoured.

Whenever ſhe forgets a morning's conſultation with her looking-glaſs—Not good humoured.

And whenever ſhe is in the leaſt diſpleaſed with herſelf—O, by no manner of means good humoured.

Now for the gentlemen.

Whenever a man pays a compliment ſeriouſly in oppoſition to his own reaſon, and every body's opinion—Not polite.

Whenever he expreſſes a particular eſteem, and yet wilfully expoſes ſome little error in the conduct of the man he pretends to value—Not polite.

Whenever he ſupports a ſcandalous lye, with a horrid impreſſion—Not polite.

Whenever he inſinuates a particular connection with a woman he never ſpoke to—Not polite.

Whenever he draws his ſword, where he knows he muſt be prevented from uſing it—Neither manly nor polite.

Whenever (to ſhew his knowledge of the world) he is unbecomingly importunate with a lady unattended—Not polite.

Whenever he ſports with age or infirmities.—Not polite.

Whenever he laughs at modeſty or virtue—Not polite.

Whenever he deſpiſes merit in diſtreſs—Not polite.

And whenever he banters the ſacred word of truth, or doubts the exiſtence of his God (though ever ſo faſhionable)—Not at all polite.

From a late LONDON PAPER.

PREJUDICES and Averſions, though natural, and often uſeful, are condemned by the Scotch and their friends ever ſince the revolution. It has been the cuſtom to raiſe in the common people an averſion and indignation againſt the Pope, Pretender, and the Devil. Soon after the acceſſion of his preſent Majeſty, the averſion to the laſt Perſonage has gradually declined, and if we look into the Pantheon, Almack's, Carliſle Houſe, the Houſe of C. or the Houſe of L. or almoſt any houſe whatſoever, he has more friends than ſhould be found in a loyal nation. The averſion to the Pretender is ſo far diminiſhed, that his beſt friends are to be found about the court, and in poſts of the higheſt truſt and importance, in every part of the kingdom, and all the colonies; and it is believed, if a treaty with France ſhould take place, the Pope's friends will find as much favour in England as thoſe of the other two.

Now I would aſk, Whether religion, morality, and public liberty, have flouriſhed ſince the general averſion to theſe three Perſonages has ceaſed? And then I would aſk, Whether we might not add a fourth object of averſion to the former three, if we wiſh to keep the Crown of England in the Brunſwick line, preſerve the Proteſtant religion, and maintain religious and civil liberty againſt the machinations of the Pope, the Pretender, the Devil, and Scotch Jacobites.

For SALE privately,

The following Property of BENJAMIN GUERARD,

Which he is deſirous of SELLING,

To have his Intereſt in one Place, viz.

A Very valuable Tract of 1000 Acres of Land, ſituate in Prince William's Pariſh, between Combahee and Port-Royal Ferries, having on it a Sufficiency of choice high Land for two profitable Indico Plantations; between which Two Hundred and Fifty Barrels of Rice may be made in a Year, as Ground to yield that Quantity of Barrels can be flowed with Water:—No Part of it was ever planted, but Sixty or Eighty Acres are cleared to begin one Plantation, FRESH and NEW, and therefore the BETTER and CHEAPER. It is eſteemed as fine a Tract for its Size as moſt in the Province, the up Land being high, ſo that Land Floods can never hurt the Crops of Indico and Corn thereon planted:——The Purchaſer, from the Red-Oak Trees that muſt unavoidably come down, in order to his making his Fields, may ſtrip a vaſt Number of Cords of Bark.

So complete a Tract as this, and of the like Diſtance from Charles-Town, is very rarely to be found for Sale; which would require no Recommendation, if a View by every one in Want of ſuch could be taken of it, and which, conſidering the high Price of good Lands, will be ſold cheap.——It pays no Quit-Rents, being Part of the Rich Lands included in Thomas Lowndes's Grant; and, as 'tis too late in the Seaſon to prepare for Planting for the enſuing Crop, the Purchaſer's Bond ſhall not carry Intereſt 'till Six Months from the Date are elapſed.

A delightful RETREAT,

Eight Miles by Land or Water from Town, known to be as well ſituated for Pleaſantneſs and Agreeableneſs of Proſpect as moſt Seats in the Province; on which, open to ſeveral Parts of that beautiful River, Aſhley-River, ſtands an elegant Houſe, with handſome commodious Offices.

With which will be SOLD,

The large Quantity of very genteel Furniture

Now in the ſaid Houſe.

A very eaſy and deſirable Diſtance for a Carriage and Four or Six Horſes, as a Gentleman may come to his Buſineſs in Town in the Morning, and return to his Family in the Evening.—— The Inconvenience of not having ſuch a Place for a Family, is at all Times great, and much more ſo, when contagious Diſorders rage in the Metropolis, or thoſe few Months in the Year arrive, ſo deſtructive to Infants kept in Town.

It contains Three Hundred Acres of Land, and is allowed to have the beſt Paſture in the Neighbourhood (having kept all the Cattle thereabouts in good Condition for ſeveral Years paſt) of which Two are now incloſed with a ſtrong new Fence, as is alſo a Meadow for making Hay; has great Plenty of Fencing and Fire-Wood Trees, and, by a Gentleman having a Turn that Way, may be made a Place of ſome Profit as well as Pleaſure, as good Crops of Corn have been made on it, and one Year, when planted with that Grain, Sixty Barrels of Rice; but what can be more Profitable to grow on it than the Graſs it luxuriantly bears, as HAY (made with a very few Hands) is an Article of ſo great Demand in Town, and never ſells for leſs than Ten Pounds per Thouſand Weight, although often near One-Third Brambles.——It may be viewed at any Time.

His Two HOUSES in Town;

The one on the Corner of the Bay, near the Exchange, and the other adjoining, in Broad-Street, which (and that very low) rent for £. 960 per Annum, and are ſo advantageouſly ſituated for Trade, as will never be untenated;—beſides which Advantage, it is well known theſe Houſes were not built as thoſe which are intended to be Lett, no Coſt nor Pains being ſpared in getting the Materials the beſt of their Kind, which were put together in the moſt faithful and neat Manner:—The Wood Materials are of the beſt of Yellow Pine and Black Cypreſs, and the Mortar made of Freſh-Water River Gravel, ſo ſtrong a Cement as that none of the Tiles in the Great Hurricane 1752, were blown off, whilſt the Roofs of moſt of the Houſes tiled or ſlated were entirely uncovered thereby.

It has been often deſired that the Corner Houſe ſhould be made a COFFEE-HOUSE,—£. 1050 a Year Rent will be inſured, but there is no Doubt that £. 1100 can be got for them, as the Rents were never increaſed ſince the Building of the Exchange, as ſhould be.—The Terms to the Purchaſers ſhall be made as convenient as they can deſire.——Pleaſe to apply to

JACOB VALK.

Alſo, A Pine Tract, ſituated about eight or nine Miles from Santee River, joining Lands of Peter Whitten, and, being on the Cherokee Road, an excellent Public-Houſe might be eſtabliſhed on it.—It contains Eleven Hundred and Fifty Acres, very fit for Turpentine, Tar, and Pitch, and is good Proviſion Land.
